Presenters:

Marnie LaVigne, Ph.D.

*Director, Business Development
UB CAT*

Renata Bator

*Business Development Associate
UB CAT*

Are you a life sciences company interested in partnering with the University for new product development, product optimization and design, testing services, validation and quality control, clinical trials or other projects? If so, this presentation is for you.

The UB Center for Advanced Biomedical and Bioengineering Technology (UB CAT) - one of 15 centers across NYS - fosters the creation of new life sciences companies and helps existing businesses expand through new or improved product lines. Creating linkages between UB researchers and new and existing companies, the UB CAT leverages UB's research expertise, facilities and equipment to create life sciences products and services for maximum impact on the region's economy.

Request for Funding Proposals Due May 7, 2010

See bioinformatics.buffalo.edu/cat.php for guidelines and application
